Dancer Tells Story Of Alleged Pantages Attack On Witness Stand

GIRL BREAKS DOWN ON STAND

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 4 (U.P.)—The life of Eunice Pringle, from pleasant grammar school days to the sultry August afternoon on which she accuses Alexander Pantages of attacking her, was told to a superior court jury by the sobbing young dancer today.

Sitting only a few feet from the grey-haired theater magnate, Miss Pringle described brokenly how he allegedly lured her to his secluded conference room to discuss booking on his circuit for her dancing act and there "made love like a crazy man."

The girl, who is 17, was an excellent witness for the state, she spoke in a calm, soft voice during her early testimony, as she approached her accusation, nervousness crept in. Finally, she described her frantic efforts to escape from the room and the consummation of the alleged assault.

Damaging Testimony
"I tried so hard to get away from Mr. Pantages, but he was too strong for me. He kissed and bit me, mumbled of love. He forced me to the floor and tore at my clothing," the dancer testified. "I fainted," Miss Pringle said in a choked voice after describing the attack. "When I recovered I tried again to scream and fought, finally getting away from him and running to the street."

Her pale face was suddenly flushed as district attorney Burton Fitts led her through unprintable details of the incident and she began to sob. Two women jur-

MACDONALD WELCOMED AT CAPITOL BY HOOVER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—UP—One of the momentous days in the history of the United States and Great Britain came to a climax tonight when Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald was ushered into the Blue Room at the White House to be received by President Hoover as a brief formal prelude to a series of conversations intended to strengthen friendship between the two peoples.

The prime minister and his daughter, Miss Isabel, arrived in Washington at 4 p. m. after a welcome celebration in New York.

The full significance of the visit of the British Prime Minister, the first such in American history, began to dawn tonight. From both sides it was authoritatively emphasized there is to be no Anglo-American alliance as alliances are contrary to the historic policy of this nation. Prime Minister MacDonald, in a statement made as he landed at New York, declared on the contrary that the United States and Great Britain are attempting, by this mission, to set an example to all other nations "to gather round the council board of peace."

Alliance Denied
The insistent denials that any Anglo-American alliance is to be arranged between President Hoover and Prime Minister MacDonald was for a brief 20 minutes; extremely formal and without any of the opportunity for easy friendly discussion which will come when they spend the week-end together.

The spokesmen of the two leading World Powers met in the famous Blue Room.

Formal Ceremony
The White House ceremony was in strict accordance with fixed etiquette established in the infancy of the Republic. At the door of the White House MacDonald was received by the president's naval aide, Lieut. Alan Buchanan, and, with Sir Esme (Continued on Page 5)

12 KILLED IN ATTEMPTED BREAK

CANON CITY, Colo., Oct. 4.—UP—The final flash of an arch fiend's pistol brought order out of chaos at the Colorado penitentiary today when Danny Daniels committed suicide after killing four fellow inmates and all but one of seven guards who died in the wildest prison riot in the nation's history.

Daniels' death ended a frightful slaughter and admitted officials of the state prison and state militia to a grotesque vista of destruction. Every window in the cell house where the mutiny was shattered and the frames broken out of most of them. The walls had great gaping holes where powerful shots had landed.

Mire Of Blood
The floor was a mire of blood. At the east end lay the body of inmate Albert M. Oregreidige, shot through the head. A short distance away sprawled Guard J. W. McGeinold, with a bullet through the head. Stretched out, all blood spattered, was the body of Guard Charles Shepherd. He had faced his executioner when he fell.

In the southeast corner of the cell house the scene was ghastly, unforgetable. Crumpled there was the body of Danny Daniels, cause of it all, with a revolver in his hand. He had fallen forward on his face, his twisted body crumpled underneath.

Comrades Executed
Daniels' feet stretched into the open doorway of the end cell in which were piled the bodies of his comrades, A. H. Davis, Red Reilly and Jimmy Parbur. None of the guards near them, indicating the satisfaction of officials that the deadly Danny had killed them. Daniels wore the uniform coat (Continued on Page 8)

Annual Police Ball To Be Held Tonight

Richmond policemen will don their gold braid, shine up the brass buttons, put an extra shine on their brogans and prepare to do themselves proud tonight at the annual police ball.

The event will be held at the East Shore park dance hall starting at 8:30 o'clock, according to A. J. Cundy, chairman of the committee in charge of the event.

One of the largest crowds in the history of the dance pavilion is expected to be in attendance. Cundy said last night.

Early sale of tickets was reported as excellent and it is expected that a large crowd will purchase card boards at the box office tonight.

Last year, Cundy said, the dance orchestra will furnish the music for the dancing, and will feature some of the latest dance hits.

that the 2000 attendance mark will be shattered.

A. L. Paulsen, mayor and Mrs. Paulsen will lead the grand march at nine o'clock. Chief of Police and Mrs. Dan Cox and city officials and their wives will occupy a prominent place in the grand march.

A feature of the evening will be a surprise package which will be opened at midnight.

The ball has been decorated in red, white and blue streamers and a special device has been fixed over the orchestra stage so that the sound will be thrown out to every nook and corner of the dance hall.

Guy Vargas' augmented dance orchestra will furnish the music for the dancing, and will feature some of the latest dance hits.

SCORES DIE IN FIERCE FIGHTING

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 5, (Saturday) (U.P.)—The Philippine Herald here received dispatches today from Iba, capital of Zambales province, of Luzon Island, declaring the entire population of a Negro village except for a four-year old child, had been wiped out by furious fighting between inhabitants and constabulary soldiers.

Although the messengers failed to give the number of residents in the village, they indicated more than a score had been killed.

The battle started, it was said, when the constabulary officers sought to capture ten escaped negro prisoners who had sought refuge in the village. The little community was situated in a rugged mountain region, of Zambales province.

Soldiers opened fire on the village, but inhabitants, instead of consenting to surrender the fugitives, shot poison arrows at the law enforcers and a pitched battle followed, resulting in the fatal wounding or immediate deaths of all the inhabitants, it was reported.

The dispatches quoted executives of the constabulary as claiming the annihilation was necessary for self preservation.

Members of the Negro tribe are known as Oriental negroes and are believed to be aboriginal.

'MA' KENNEDY EXPECTED TO TAKE STAND

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 4.—UP—Pale and haggard, and glaring at a crowded courtroom that frequently irritated him with cries and snickers, the Rev. Harry H. Clark stepped from the witness stand late Friday for the first time since his $50,000 breach of promise suit against Mrs. Minnie E. "Ma" Kennedy opened.

Following a brief afternoon cross-examination, counsel for the Rev. Clark rested the case. Clark plainly showed the strain under which he was laboring to answer questions. "I'm tired," he complained to Superior Judge Ronald once. "I'm so tired I can hardly remember things."

Clark sometimes appeared not to hear the questions and at other times he remarked: "Doesn't Remember." "I don't remember. It is difficult for me to reconstruct those things now."

Clark testified his affection for Mrs. Kennedy gradually ripened from their chance acquaintance. He said he did not become immediately infatuated with her, but her encouragement helped to fan the spark of a love which later (Continued on Page 5)

302 FACING RUM COUNTS

SOUTH BEND, IND., Oct. 4 (U.P.)—Mayor Raleigh Hale of East Chicago, his chief of police, James E. Regan, and 300 others in the Calumet region of northwestern Indiana were indicted today on various conspiracy charges of liquor, narcotics and white slavery by a federal grand jury which for five weeks has been investigating charges of unbridled racketeering and political corruption in northern Indiana.

Actress Divorces Fatty Arbuckle

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 4 (U.P.)—The brief married life of Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, one-time screen comedian, and Doris Dean, was ended definitively today when the actress obtained a divorce decree in superior court here.

Miss Dean testified that Arbuckle had deserted her because she wouldn't fight back and that he called her obscene names in the presence of others.

"He said one reason why he didn't care for me was that I wouldn't fight back," the actress told Judge Walter Gates. "I telephoned him to return to me but he refused."

Arbuckle did not contest the suit. The Arbuckles were married in May, 1925, and separated in the same month in 1928.

Rush Construction On Clyde Reservoir

According to California Water Service engineers, the Chenery reservoir at Clyde, is more than 90 per cent complete. More than 100 men are working in shifts totaling 15 hours a day, and it is expected that the work will be more than half completed by the end of the week.

Due to the fact that the dirt levee which will be more than two miles long, is rapidly nearing completion, work will be started on the concrete facing of the levee this week.

The reservoir, being constructed on a contract for the county, will store more than 1,500,000 gallons of water to be used by Bay Point, Concord, Martinez and Crockett. Water will be conveyed by pipe line eight miles in length from the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers for the huge storage lake.

The levee will be 28 feet in height and the eight pumping stations within the area to be flooded by the lake, are to be raised above the water level. The contract for facing the reservoir with gunite is held by the California Gunite Construction company. Gunite, a water-proof concrete preparation will be sprayed through a hose to form a two-foot water proof lining on the inner side of the bulkwork.

Burg Brothers are financing the structure which is being leased to the Golden Rule Chevrolet company on a long term lease. The structure of brick and steel will extend for 150 feet on Barrett avenue and for 50 feet on Twenty-third street. It will be in an L shape.

The new Ford sales agency under construction across the street to be finished on Oct. 15 and will be occupied at once by the David M. Rose company, which is leasing the structure.

THE WOMAN OF IT

SEPTEMBER

The beauty of sun-warmed hills, and the ribbon of roadway.

Bite of an infant lake, and a cluster of birches. White as a woman's skin, and a woodland vista. Crispness of air, and snow of New England churches—

After this day has gone and the gold of September. These, then, shall still be mine to hold and remember!

World of ours you were madly young and victorious! Though the leaves tossed brown at our feet, and the clear-eyed weather.

Pregged a winter's cold, I close my eyes—and the hills still are about me, above me, hills that we loved together.

The hour is past, and only a dream September: And yet it is mine—since I cherish it and remember!

Jealousy is NO Proof of Love!

"Jealousy in an extreme form was the motive for this murder," according to the reported utterance of the District Attorney prosecuting the case of the murder of the late Mrs. J. P. Moore, who was killed by her husband, J. P. Moore, Jr., on September 1st, 1929. The case is a reminder that jealousy is a very real and dangerous emotion.

It seems to us that nothing more false was ever said than that "jealousy is a proof of love." Jealousy is a proof of self-love. It is so simple; if you really love some one better than yourself, more than anything else you want him or her to be happy—happy with you, if it can be so; happy without you, if it must be—but HAPPY. Therefore, you cannot be jealous of the sense of grudging your lover's love, making his or her life miserable by scenes, suspicions, demands. Perfect love catches out fear—that is to say, distrust. If you love, you don't imagine unfaith. When you know that you are loved, no other love is possible. You are utterly unhappy but you don't clutch you don't hate, you don't torture. Not if you love some one else better than you love yourself.

Jealousy is, then, in the highest sense never justified. Often, in the divorce-court sense, it is not justified—not at the beginning, anyway. The jealous person may create his or her unhappiness out of whole cloth, reading false implications in the most innocent words, glances, acts.

Watching the morbid mental functioning of the super-suspicious husband or wife, an observer often wonders if jealousy should ever be dignified with the name of emotion—if it is not simply a pathological severity. There is a lesson for all jealous married folk in "Atmosphere of Love," Andre Maurois's brilliantly analytic new novel. This volume, in this small volume the superb biographer of the great Shelley shows how unreasoned, unreasoning jealousy can wreck the happiest union.

Philippe, the hero of Maurois, loves and is loved by the beautiful, lovely, charming Odile. They are happily married. When there begins to be an absorbing jealousy of her friends, her interests, her simple daily pursuits during his absence. He himself, long after, is honest enough in his analysis of the cause of his jealousy.

"First," he says, "there was my great love for Odile and the natural desire that I had to keep for myself every particle of the precious fabric of Odile's life: her words, her smiles, her looks. But this desire could not have been the chief cause, for when I had Odile all to myself she complained that I seemed much more absorbed in my books and thoughts than in her. It was only when she was free to be with others that I clamored to have her to myself. This is what was rooted most in vanity than in anything else."

So he explains, and sage—and she deserves him, respectably but naturally

After-Summer Faces

WARTHY faces, peeling faces, boiled faces and spotted faces—faces paying the price of flirting with the summer sun. To some the warthiness is rather benign, but to none is a reddening skin or a beet-red sun or a crop of freckles becoming. But don't say we didn't warn you, dear ones.

There is little that can be done for a peeling skin, except to protect it against further burning. But if the skin is so discolored with a light cream or cleansing lotion, rather than soap and water, and then left to get well of itself.

The boiled skin, too, to the slow but sure mercy of nature—excepting where the redness is accompanied by pain. Some weeks ago this department published a most excellent corrective for red and itchy skin. When the skin is in this condition, it is to be preferred for cleansing purposes until the skin heals.

Now for the treatment of freckles and unsatisfactory brownness. For mild cases, the use of lemon cream and peroxide cream, alternately, plus a lotion of equal parts of lemon juice and glycerine, will restore the skin to normal. But for stubborn cases—most of them are stubborn at this time of year—it is necessary to employ more drastic measures of correction.

For example, a skin that has been exposed all summer long to burning, discoloring sun rays requires, in addition to regular cleansing with lemon cream and peroxide cream, a special bleach. You may buy one ready made, or you may prefer to make your own. We have had good reports from many users of the following:

BLEACHING MASK FOR STUBBORN FRECKLES AND TAN

Sweet Almonds 30 parts
Bitter Almonds 15 parts
Distilled Water 300 parts

Mix the three ingredients together, then round them to in condition. Next strain through cheesecloth and add twenty-five parts of alcohol and fifteen parts of pure lemon juice. To make the "mask" and the mixture thin and evenly over the discolored skin. Let it remain on the skin for ten to fifteen minutes at 70 to 75 degrees. Then wash off with water. As the skin acquires its normal color, the use of the mask should be discontinued. It is a good idea to use a little of the mixture on the face and neck to keep the skin with fresh sweet skin.

Kitchen Suggestions

You will be able to cut perfect cubes of butter if you heat the knife and hold warm paper taut over the cutting edge during the process of cutting the butter.

One housewife uses prepared mustard in the baked beans and her family claim it is a great improvement on the dry mustard.

When the sink becomes stopped up pour boiling water down the pipe; follow this with a cup of kerosene. In ten minutes pour down more boiling water and you will probably save a plumber's bill.

Adventure

An adventure which has happened to King Albert of Belgium has furnished Frenchmen with food for thought. It has reminded them that a crowned monarch may be more democratic than the President of a republic. King Albert went bathing at Ostend; but while he was enjoying his swim a thief stole his pocket-book and gold watch. This happened to a King. It could not have happened to a President of the French Republic, for the President is surrounded by a protocol more strict than any other in Europe with the exception, perhaps, of that of the Spanish Court. King George and Queen Mary may take a walk if they like or a ride in the neighborhood of their country homes with the same freedom that ordinary people enjoy. Not so the President of the republic. He is hedged in with ceremony, guarded and escorted at every step he takes. Crowned monarchs may go yachting or play polo or tennis, indulge their sporting tastes. But for the President of this democracy it is different. He is virtually a prisoner in his Palaces of the Elysee and Rambouillet, guarded, saluted and escorted always. Rambouillet is his holiday home, but even there the strict observance of the protocol is never relaxed; never for a moment is the smiling M. Gaston Doumergue allowed to forget that he is head of the state. He could not, as Kings can, take a trip to the seaside and enjoy a quiet swim, or a stroll along the promenade. He is shielded always to the autocratic regulations of democracy.

It is, of course, entirely possible. It is also entirely possible to be in love and in marriage without jealousy. As that other wise and witty man, who wrote "The Art of Making a Perfect Husband," says, "He who truly loves another being places the happiness of that other before his own. Jealousy is a result of placing one's own happiness before that of others. Love gives; jealousy withholds."

And in one paragraph, this successful husband sums up the case as we see it: "Jealousy is said to be of two kinds: Jealousy with cause and jealousy without cause; the first is the result of selfishness, the second is the result of selfishness and delusion—both are worthy of children and barbarians, but neither is worthy of civilized beings."

So he explains, and sage—and she deserves him, respectably but naturally

Dr. Ekenker's Conversion

A German newspaper supplies an interesting detail on the life of Dr. Hugo Ekenker, the famous aeronaut, who recently gave that magnificent display when taking the Graf Zeppelin on the round the world trip. In 1909 Dr. Ekenker was teaching meteorology in a small German college. When old Graf Zeppelin began his experiments with the machines that have taken their name from him, Dr. Ekenker was one of the most ardent opponents of dirigibles. He wrote articles upon articles against Count Zeppelin's projects. He called them foolish and worthless. Then one day Dr. Ekenker came by chance to Friedrichshafen and, by chance also, he met Count Zeppelin in a local hotel. The two men had a long conversation. Thereafter Dr. Ekenker became the most faithful collaborator of the father of the Zeppelin. The rest is known.

Rhine Army Tears

It is a "loss-up" who is most disappointed at the forthcoming evacuation of the Rhine—the German shopkeepers in the occupied zone or the Army of Occupation! The shopkeepers are depressed, for during its stay, the army has meant increased business and profits. There was no reliance on the part of the troops in spending their spare cash in "Jerry" establishments. And the army itself is feeling many pangs of regret at the statement that the great evacuation will begin next month. The British Army next month has had the time of its life and it is loath to leave. The biggest

Washington Belief Is That Sudden Attack on Liquor Enforcement in National Capital Has Got on Hoover's Nerves

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Startled by President Hoover's unexpected defense of Prohibition enforcement in the capital, his first attempt to defend conditions since entering the White House, Washington has already seen signs of tightening up on the part of bootleggers with both wits and dyes ready to take advantage of the move toward making the District of Columbia a "model" for aridness.

Since President Hoover entered office a number of speakases, which formerly flourished in the heart of the city, have gone out of business and liquor is harder to purchase in the capital by the drink, but easier by the bottle. This is indicated by the fact that police have been turning their attention to "plants" for fake orders in order to apprehend bootleggers.

Senator Howell's unanticipated attack on the President's enforcement policy has caused a stir in the White House. The Anti-Saloon League has closely studied every candidate mentioned for the post and have been clamoring for action. They fear that Prohibition enforcement will suffer as a result of the post in the Department of Justice being left vacant.

Official Washington is in agreement that the President is becoming irritated by the Prohibition situation. Otherwise he would never have answered the queries made on the floor of the Senate. The engineer-trained mind of the Chief Executive, it is pointed out, does not relish a job that can not be completed and the law, why is the District of Columbia acknowledged to be one of the big wet areas of the country?

On the other hand, dry agencies have also been critical of conditions in Washington, and the President's defense of the police authorities does not set so well with their attitude. Altogether the sudden outburst on the Prohibition situation in the capital is certain to have far-reaching effects.

President Hoover's plan of making the Nation's capital a "model" for the goal of dry leaders, and they are entirely satisfied with this program. Meanwhile, daily police records of seizures of liquor, the ease with which it is obtained by visitors, the truck loads of empty liquor bottles hauled to the incinerators each day, and the steady increase in drunkenness stands as mute testimony to conditions in the capital.

Shortly after President Hoover entered the White House with the avowed purpose of enforcing the dry law, these familiar with bootleg chaffs claim that prices took a heavy jump and the scores of runners left the racket. Some attributed this to the Jones law. Anyway, there was every evidence of a scarcity in the supply, as indicated by police seizures and a slight decrease in the number of arrests for intoxication. However, the initial alarm soon subsided and the racket became just as active as before.

Police claim they have been hampered by legal technicalities, and bills are now pending in Congress to put more teeth into the laws governing liquor seizures in the capital. Several instances have come to light in which large hauls, only to have the violators turned loose on the grounds that the authorities did not have sufficient evidence to support the warrants. One of these was in the case of a well-known bootlegger. He was stopped on a charge of violating the laws and police found a large supply of liquor in the car. The defendant was turned loose on a technicality. Other instances of this kind have resulted from a gambling fever while raiding a gambling joint or searching a house with some other aim than looking for liquor.

President Hoover, as a result of his statement in response to Senator Howell's attack on the Prohibition laws, has thrown the Prohibition issue into the heart of the special session on tariff. There has been a tendency to let it ride over until the regular session, but the wits have given an opportunity and a case to vent their wrath and the drys are certain to answer.

TELLING THE WORLD

OH, THE PITY OF IT ALL!

A STATEMENT released to the press by Prisoner 44795-B (Lode Glota), now serving a twenty-year sentence for first degree murder:

"I am certainly surprised that the President and Attorney General have turned down my application for commutation of sentence. I fully expected an immediate release. In fact, I've got a date for Saturday night."

"Any one that says I'm trying to get out of jail on account of ill health is a cuckoo. My health is fair considering I eat bean soup eight times a week. What I'm kicking about is that I've been done an injustice. I admit I shot my mother-in-law, but my attorney assured me they can't put you in jail for that."

"When you consider that Government agents shoot people just for targeted practice, it seems mighty queer they put me in the straitjacket for doing the same thing. There's something sinister about the whole proceeding, and President Hoover has pulled an awful bone in letting me serve out my whole term."

Justin Bratz, the eminent forger, now doing a twelve-year stretch, gave reporters the following mimeograph through his cell door to-day: "This is a hell of a country when a man who's made $11,000,000 in apurious notes is expected to serve out his full term. I am disgusted with the President's laxity in not jolting his signature on my pardon papers. It goes to show that the man in the White House is not attending to his duties. Every one knows I was innocent in making phony money. The Constitution comes out for freedom of the press, and I only printed high-grade Federal Reserve notes in $10 and $20 denominations. It's funny my official enemies never considered that a crime they never caught me with the goods."

"I got the surprise of my life when they handed me twenty years. But my lawyers, who could find holes in cream cheese, told me it was all a mistake."

While the American has long enjoyed cranberry-sauce served with turkey and chicken and apple sauce with goose and pork and recently gaudied pineapple with lamb and ham he knows little of meat and poultry cooked with various fruits.

The peoples of other nations think highly of meat and fruit dishes cooked after time-honored recipes. In Roumania meat and raisins form a national dish; the Turkish cook bakes mutton with quince or apple or pear. Chickens and rabbits place the Persian palate, while the Gustavian cook demands the addition of almonds. Pineapple is combined with chicken in China and with duck in Japan. The French housewife uses orange to render duck food fit for the French.

Since the family food taste may be conservative, a culinary artist, wishing to attempt a riot and fruit dish should make haste slowly. Apples cooked with pork will seem less startling to the host than the combination of other combinations. Alice McGill contributes a very good recipe for:

ROAST PORK AND APPLES (3)

Loins of pork, three to five pounds
Five or six apples
Flour, salt, pepper to season
Roasting time of meat: About two hours.

Cooking time of apples: one hour
The oven temperature should be very hot, 450 degrees F., when the roast goes in, as soon as the meat starts to brown, the heat should be reduced to moderate—375 to 350 degrees F. The apples roast in the moderate heat and so do sweet potatoes should these be baked in the oven beside the pan of meat.

A roasting pan with a rack, thermometer and clock, are the first culinary tools and utensils needed. Then a pan for the apples, a sharp knife for coring and quartering and a large spoon for basting.

Light the oven and heat to 450 degrees F.—which means very hot. Wipe the loin of pork with a damp cloth and sprinkle with flour, salt and pepper. Stand it on the rack in the roasting pan and put it into the oven. When the meat begins to brown, reduce the heat to moderate. Baste occasionally with the fat and juice in the pan—the heat brings this out. Bake one hour.

Wash and quarter the apples; remove the cores, but not the peeling. Place the apple quarters in the pan beside the meat and return to the oven for an hour. Baste meat and apples—that is, pour the pan liquid over them with a large spoon—several times. Bake a second hour.

Two hours after the meat has gone into the oven, it should be quite tender and should loosen easily from the bone.

Serve on a heated platter with the apples and pan liquid, or dish the apples and juice separately. The meat will taste of the apples and the apples much better than the usual apple sauce served with roast pork. Baked sweet potatoes may accompany the fruit and meat.

DOLL SHOW TO BE FEATURE OF GRAPE FESTIVAL

A musical entertainment, a doll show at which dolls from this country and other foreign countries will be shown, and other entertainment, will feature the annual grape festival to be held in Kentfield this afternoon. The festival, which is an annual event, is for the benefit of the San Francisco orphanage at San Anselmo.

The estate of Mrs. William Kent wife of the late congressman has been turned into an imitation Italian garden for the occasion.

A musical program far above the average has been arranged by Mrs. Lloyd Weaver. Singers to be heard will include Edwin V. Holton, radio tenor; Mrs. Milo Robbins, vocal soloist; S. V. Gunnison, story teller; and Marie Casella, pianist. Through a new radio address system, which has been installed through the cooperation of Capt. Robert Dollar, the program will be broadcast all over the estate.

Attracting much interest is the doll show, held under the direction of Mrs. Robert Menzies of San Rafael. There will be prizes for the best dolls, and foreign competition will be in evidence.

A booth under the supervision of Mrs. P. A. Transue of Richmond will feature fancy work and aprons and will be decorated in the Italian style, in keeping with the rest of the festival.

The festival will open at 10 o'clock and will last until late in the afternoon.

DOLORES HIT IN MADONNA FILM

Dolores Costello is more lovely than ever in her latest Warner Bros. picture, "Madonna of Avenue A," which opened a two-day engagement at the Fox-California theater last night. She has been supplied with a highly dramatic and often very exciting story of a young girl who has been kept as a boarding school by her mother and never allowed to visit her in New York. When the girl is expelled from school for having been found on board a run runner—she has innocently accepted a chance acquaintance's invitation to board it—she goes to her mother to find her a home in a notorious East Side night club and gambling den.

Believing she has inherited her blood from her mother, the girl tries to lead a fast life with the youth who had enticed her on board the run runner. They get married and he agrees to go straight, but her mother frames the boy for a stretch in Sing Sing, ignorant of the marriage. And wishing to protect the girl from this member of the bootleg racket, how the mother saves the boy when she learns the truth, forms one of the most highly dramatic and emotional episodes of any recent picture.

You will be thrilled.

Miss Costello gives a strikingly dramatic and colorful performance as the daughter, while Louise Dresser gives a fascinating and powerful characterization as the mother. Grant Withers is a likable and understanding man, who wins the liking of audiences at sight. He's a good actor, too. Others in the all-around excellent cast are: Douglas Gerrard, Otto Hoffman and Lee Moran. Michael Curtiz's direction, expert, highly effective, sure footed and inspiring, is another reason for "Madonna of Avenue A" among the pictures you simply must see.

Also on this bill is an all-comedy feature "Taxi 13" with Chester Conklin and a Fox Talking News.

The first seven months of 1929 saw an estimated six percent increase in the motor vehicle factories in the United States, according to the California State Automobile association.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, a experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically, and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless. It works so easily every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

Mary Revives Southern Drawl For Dixie Film

The southern accent which she packed away in vocal moth balls a few years ago, was brought out for an airing recently by Mary Brian, dark-eyed screen actress.

Miss Brian, heroine of many a romantic part in the screen drama, plays the role of "Lucy" in the "River of Romance" picture, which comes to the Fox-California theater for a two day run beginning tomorrow.

Director Wallace specified that all in the cast must have Southern accents to further the realism of the spoken dialog in the picture, which is all-talking.

Miss Brian was born in Corsicana, Texas. In the four years that she has forged ahead in pictures, achieving the front rank as a Paramount featured player, her Dixie drawl has become almost imperceptible. But when the first "shots" of "River of Romance" were made, it was clear to all on the set that Miss Brian had had no difficulty in resurrecting her jolting, limpid lingo, sub.

A splendid array of talent has been cast in support of Rogers. The players include Henry D. Walthall, veteran of the stage and the screen since "Birth of a Nation" days; Wallace Beery, burly sound fable; also Fox News.

NEW RAILS for Richmond!

And now comes the Southern Pacific with 8,000 feet of shining new rails for Richmond.

This new track, now virtually completed, runs from the main line near Stege along Seaver to the new Parr-Richmond terminal, where it connects with Santa Fe rails, so that both railroads may make joint use of tracks on both the land and water sides of the new terminal.

In a very short time cargo of all kinds will be moving in and out over the Southern Pacific's new rails to and from the new Richmond facility, giving this city another highly important link with the outside world and making good our claim to being a shipping city second to none on the coast.

With the completion of the Tenth street paving, the laying of the new rails along Seaver avenue, and the finishing of the Parr-Richmond terminal, it may be said that the transportation facilities, both by land and water, are completed on the inner harbor.

Richmond invites the country's biggest industries to study Richmond as the site of their Pacific coast plant.

Then the president led the entire party into the Red room where Mrs. Hoover was waiting to receive them all. After a few minutes' chat in the Red room, the president and Mrs. Hoover withdrew and the visitors were escorted to their automobiles.

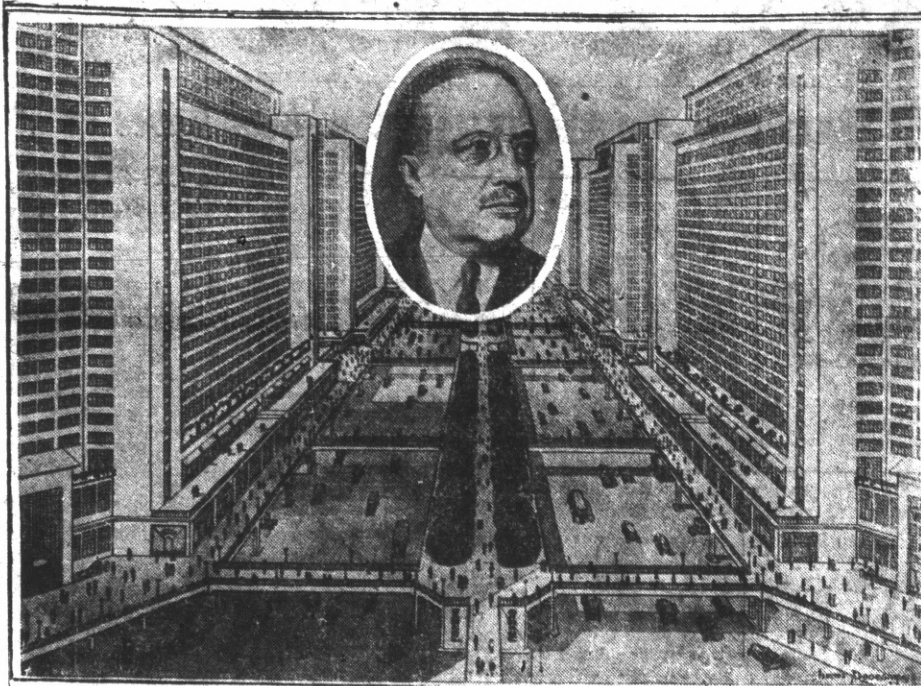

The British prime minister, bound on one of the great peace missions of modern times, was greeted at the Union station here by a display of full military honors. He marched from his train through a lane of Marines in blue dress uniforms, with their rifles at present arms. The guns of Ft. Myer across the Potomac thundered a 19-gun salute to this resolute hater of war. A squadron of cavalry clattered in his van as he rode to the British Embassy.

Shell Rebuilds Burned Plant

MARTINEZ, Oct. 4.—Construction of a new light filling plant to replace the one demolished yesterday by fire, was started here today by employees of the Shell Oil company.

Blame for the fire which caused an estimated loss of $75,000, has been practically fixed on a spark from a torch, used in soldering gas cans, igniting gaseous vapors and spreading to the gasoline and distillate stored in the structure.

Praise of the company employees was again reiterated by Shell officials, who declare that their work held the fire down to one structure.

Operations by the shipping department of the plant will be hampered somewhat by the loss of the unit, but company officials declared that it would not present a critical obstacle.

DANGER TELLS OF ALLEGED ATTACK

Pantages Nervous

When his accuser first took the stand, Pantages drummed nervously on the arms of his chair and kept his eyes turned away from her or flashed smiles at his son, Lloyd, who sat nearby. But when the little dancer said that he had made frantic love and bitten and assaulted her, Pantages leaned forward in his chair to catch every word.

When Miss Pringle first took the stand for direct examination, Pitts had her tell of her attendance at grammar school and high school. She said she lived with her mother, a slight, almost deaf school teacher, who preceded her to the stand.

First Interview

The dancer testified that she later attended the University of Southern California, specializing in languages and music and living quietly in a women's dormitory. Then she related how her mother had bought from Nicholas Dunayev the skit, "The Prince from Hollywood," which brought the girl into contact with Pantages.

"After Carl Walker, who was manager of the Pantages theater, had seen the act, he said it was fine and advised me to talk to Mr. Pantages. I did and he said the act was good and that he would book it. He told me to come back to see him in a week."

Miss Pringle related various subsequent interviews with Pantages and finally reached her visit to his office on the day of the asserted attack.

Watched Picture

"I waited in the reception room of the theater's main office and finally Mr. Pantages said he would see me. He took me into the theater to watch a picture while he went out for a few minutes to a barber shop and when he returned he took me to a little room on another floor. I never had been there before.

"We went into the little room and sat down," the girl continued under Pitts prompting. "Mr. Pantages asked me had I minded waiting. Then we talked a little about the heat. I took off my jacket and he removed his coat after asking my permission.

"He said my act was very good and that he was going to book it. Then he reached over and picked up my hand and said I had very lovely hands. I replied that had nothing to do with business."

Girl Breaks Down

At this point Miss Pringle broke down and Judge Charles Fricke ordered a half-hour recess. When court resumed, she continued her story.

"Mr. Pantages talked some more about my act, then pulled his chair closer to mine and put his arm along the back of my chair and over my shoulder.

"He said he admired me very much and wanted me to be his sweetheart because he hated his wife and would give me anything. I told him I didn't want to be his sweetheart and asked him to be a gentleman.

"He seemed to go crazy, grabbing me tightly." A defense objection to the word "crazy" was sustained. "I struggled and when I tried to scream he put his hand over my mouth and kissed me and bit me. Then he forced me to the floor and I couldn't get free no matter how hard I tried."

Charges Attack

Miss Pringle said that Pantages then consummated an attack. She testified that she fainted and that when she recovered Pantages was kneeling beside her, their clothes in disorder. The girl said that he tried to hold her but that she finally broke away and ran screaming.

'Ma' Kennedy Expected To Take Stand

was assertedly denied him. "I was slower than she to respond," he said. "She chided me for being so slow."

John S. Robinson, counsel for Mrs. Kennedy, ridiculed Clark's statement and then demanded: "You mean to say she said you were slow when you met her in a motion picture theater and seven days afterward you were with her in a hotel room?"

No Answer

Clark could find no answer to this question.

Once his gaze swept the courtroom and his expression changed. Suddenly, he turned to Judge Ronald and blurted:

"There is a woman sitting behind Mr. Robinson there who is laughing at me and I understand she is to be used as a witness against me. I object against this laughing!"

Judge Ronald said he had heard no demonstration and promised there would be none if it came to his attention.

Re-Order On Stand

John Connell, star reporter, and Robert Berman, of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer staff, followed Clark on the stand. Both testified concerning a picture of Clark shortly after his suit was filed, in which he was smiling. Immediately after their testimony was concluded, Robinson moved the case be dismissed as a non-suit.

Judge Ronald then dismissed the jury until Monday morning. Mrs. Kennedy probably will be the first witness called.

ing to the street, where she was stopped by a passerby, who returned to the office with her.

Pantages' attorneys made very few objections to the girl's story. The showman is accused of a statutory offense against a minor.

During the afternoon session, Miss Pringle appeared dressed in the red dress she wore the day of the asserted attack in order that she might show how it had been torn. She was asked to walk back and forth in front of the jury box.

Threatening Letter

A threatening letter signed "D" was delivered to defense attorneys Joe Ford, M. I. Gilbert and Jerry Geisler in the courtroom. It said that men like William Edward Hickman were bad enough but that attorneys who "defended men like Pantages were worse," and warned the three to "look out."

As Pantages left the courtroom he met Kate Rockwell, an Alaskan "Queen" in the days when he was one of the gold seeking thousands, and they smiled and chatted. The woman, who was associated with Pantages in the northwest, has been called by the state as a character witness against Pantages.

BEARS, SAINTS TO TANGLE TODAY

A battle of great significance to Pacific coast football fans will be fought when the Golden Bears meet the St. Mary's Gaels in the California Memorial stadium this afternoon. Though only a practice game and not influencing the Pacific Coast conference championship, the contest will be watched by the devotees of the gridiron as an indication of the seasons strength of the two teams.

In betting circles, the odds are 10 to 7 in favor of the Bears. The Bears have the strong defense which characterized them last season. It also has an exceptionally strong squad of reserves. Coach "Nibs" Price has stated his intention of sending several of these second string boys into the game.

Both teams have a first class backfield. It is expected that "Bub" Madigan will start at quarterback, Mack Stennett and Dick Boyle as halfbacks, and Cal Fletcher, a Richmond man, as fullback. Benny Lee of the Bears will once more occupy the birth of halfback in which he made a great reputation last year. Lee Rice or Stuart will probably fill the other halfback position. Lee Elsan will play quarterback with the Bears. This will be Elsan's last season of college football. Clarence Garity will start as fullback for California and will probably alternate with Joe Hickingbottom.

California is reported to have a strong, defensive line. The only alternations made in last season's forward wall are Ted Beckett and Dolph Timmerman. Armand Seghest, captain of the Gaels, is expected to be a strong man on the Saint's line. George Ackerman is another Saint who will be a threatening factor on Madigan's squad. The Gaels have suffered a severe loss through the departure from the end position of Ike Franklin, star of last year's season.

Today's game will show where there are deficiencies in the two teams, and will give a clue as to which of these famous champions of the gridiron will assume superiority this season.

Alameda Elks 5 3 625
Oakland Elks 3 6 333
San Francisco Elks 3 6 333

The Northern California Elks league baseball championship will be at stake tomorrow afternoon at Lincoln Park, Alameda when the Richmond and Alameda battled herds lock horns in a game that will either give the championship to Richmond or deadlock the league.

If the Richmond Elks are successful they can claim the championship for 1929, but a victory for the Alameda aggregation will tie Alameda and Richmond and a playoff game will be necessary.

The best moundsmen of both teams have been assigned to the hill by Manager George Shaw of Richmond and Manuel E. Daurte of the island city club. Earl "Fireman" Jones will take the mound for the Alameda Blits, while the veteran Roy Bliss will start for the oil city team.

Alameda's chances to cop will be enlarged with the return of Jack Hill to the game. Other sluggers who will be seen in action Sunday are: Zimmerman, Freine, Bertoli, Johnson and Huzefka of Richmond, and Toddie Vonah, Kelley, Waes, Bunney, French and Bobby Smale of Alameda.

Slee and Worth will umpire the contest which is billed for 2:30.

U. C. Soccer Babes Start Play Today

BERKELEY, Oct. 4.—The University of California freshman soccer team will open its 1929 season at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning on the southwest football practice field, Alston Way, Berkeley, when the meet the Pescadero high school squad.

Numbered on the Bear freshman team are two players from South Africa who have played soccer for years in their home country. One of Coach Zumlock's problems was to teach these boys to play soccer with shoes on—as in their own country they had always played barefooted. There are many other experienced players out for the sport.

Pescadero has a team of veterans, the majority of them playing on the state championship soccer eleven, which represented that school in 1928.

WHICH UNTANGLES THE HEAVYWEIGHT SITUATION ABOUT AS CLEAR AS A SAILOR'S KNOT?

MRS. PRESSLER, WEBFEET WILL GLENNA TO MEET MEET CARDS AT FARM

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 4.—UP—The fighting heart which has carried the great Glenna Collett through three hard matches of the National Women's golf tournament tonight made her, the favorite to retain the American championship.

In the final match of the tournament Saturday, Miss Collett will meet Mrs. Leona Pressler, a fellow Californian who also knows how to play golf. The fact that the match will be over the 36 hole route favors the champion for the farther the fight goes the better Miss Collett gets.

Miss Collett has won from Laurence Orcutt metropolitan star Mrs. Harley Higbie, Detroit, who extended the champion to 18 holes and Mrs. O. S. Hill who battles among the first five women golfers in America. Mrs. Pressler has disposed of Marion Turple the New Orleans star, Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, a three-times American champion and Bernice Wall, of Oshkosh, Wis.

The two mid-finals matches today resulted in the same scores: Miss Collett and Mrs. Pressler winning by 3 and 2, the former from Mrs. Hill and the latter from Miss Wall.

The fighting heart was evident today when Miss Collett after being two down at the ninth took hold of herself and won the match at the sixteenth, three up.

Glenna's card was a masterpiece. She was five under par for the 36 holes and she had to be for Mrs. Hill was two under perfect figures. Miss Collett scored seven birdies and Mrs. Hill registered two birdies and an eagle.

Miss Wall, less experienced than her opponent, fought hard and took a one up advantage at the second hole but lost it on the third. Mrs. Pressler went one up at the sixth and never was headed.

Hollywood In Lead Of Coast League Again

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4.—Victors for the second half of the Pacific Coast league's season will be determined in final double headers to be played by Hollywood and the Missions Sunday.

A surprising 13 to 6 win by Seattle over the Missions was the upset of the circuit today and Hollywood again took the lead, going one game ahead of the Missions by beating Portland, 8 to 2. Los Angeles, in third place, was eliminated from any chance at the title by losing to Oakland 10 to 1.

The Indians scored nine runs in the second inning when Kunz, pitcher, hit a home run, and there were three doubles, two singles, a batter hit by a pitched ball, a wild pitch, a walk and two errors.

A 2 to 2 tie was broken by Hollywood when the Shells scored six runs in the sixth inning. San Francisco won both games of a double header with Sacramento 15 to 4 in the first and 5 to 1 in the second.

Bear Babes To Meet St. Mary Frosh Today

BERKELEY, Oct. 4.—Smarter from their 66 to 0 defeat by the Santa Clara Coits last week and from the criticism which that defeat occasioned, the freshman football team at the University of California is digging into real practice before meeting the St. Mary's frosh in a preliminary to the varsity game at the Memorial stadium today. In that game a promising offense was discounted by an almost total lack of defensive power.

The 23 captains of St. Mary's form an exceptionally strong freshman combination at the Moraga school. In a game played last week, the University of California College of Pharmacy went down under a crushing 60 to 0 defeat under the rolling attack of the St. Mary's first year team. Coach Brick Mitchell of California is having his early season worries caused by casualties to his first string men. Two good backs, Seldon Del Giorgio and Robert Neuhaus, will not be able to play Saturday, owing to injuries. Del Giorgio has a badly wounded arm and Trainer Charles Volz has advised against him playing for at least a week. He was scheduled to start the game. Neuhaus sprained an ankle in practice, and will be out for some time.

Discounting these handicaps, Mitchell is driving his men to the limit to prepare them to meet the attack of the exceptionally strong Saint team.

Legion Eleven, High Varsity Hold Practice

The American Legion football team held a practice workout with the Richmond Union high school varsity griders yesterday on the high school field. No scores were kept as the two teams got together only to give the team a chance to test out new plays.

The American Legion squad has been having difficulty in signing up a game schedule, and may take on the high school griders for a real game soon.

San Pablo Nine Ends Season Tomorrow

The final game of the San Pablo ball club after a successful summer season, will be played in San Pablo tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 with the Rodeo ball club. Babich and Gualdoni will form the battery for the Pabians.

Considerable surprise was aroused when the Pabians failed to enter the Oakland Winter league association, as last year the local club was runner up to the champion Piggy Wiggies. This will leave a flock of good ball players without affiliations, but they will probably be grabbed by some other club.

It had been planned to import players from the middle west and various coast towns to enter the league, but difficulties arose, and it was decided to disband the club. Whether this will mean permanently is not known, although next year a new club will probably be formed.

Three out of town players who were imported for the winter season will start the game tomorrow. Jimmy Church, from the St. Louis Browns' camp at Springfield, will play first base; Joey Silva from Oakland will play at shortstop, and Bob McKarhon of Santa Cruz, will also be in the field.

Chicago Cubs Defeat Reds In 10 Innings

By UNITED PRESS
National League:
Chicago's championship Cubs

struggled to display their reputed strength against left handed pitching and required 10 innings to beat the Cincinnati Reds, 6 to 3, Friday. The winning runs were the results of walks to Culyer and Stephenson, singles by Tolson and Taylor and a bobble by Sukeforth. Hornsby was replaced by a sub in the third inning it being the first time this season the star infielder has been absent from the lineup.

Two big innings enabled the Chicago White Sox to defeat Detroit, 14 to 6. The Chicagoans batted Herring, Detroit rookie, for five runs in the fourth and added eight in the eighth from the offerings of Herring and Sorrel.

Rain forced postponement of the only other games scheduled.

The Richmond soccer club will open the league season tomorrow when it goes to Berkeley to meet the Turnverein club at the San Pablo park, according to a statement issued last night.

The local team was scheduled to meet the Golden Gate Merchants here at Nicholl park but last night the Merchants reported they were not ready for the game. As a result the game at Berkeley was scheduled.

The Richmond team has been conceded an excellent chance of walking away with all honors in the Eastbay soccer league this season.

SAY IT WITH SONGS A R. LINE de HAAS

Copyright, 1929, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
This novel is based on the Warner Bros. & Vitaphone picture starring Al Jolson, Darryl Francis Zanuck and Harvey Gates, Scenarists.

SYNOPSIS

Joe Lane, copywriter, song plugger, and hit of QRS Radio Station, and Katherine, his wife, have one child, Little Pat, whom they both adore. Joe, believing Arthur Phillips, manager of the station, to be his best friend, accepts a big contract from him, not knowing that Phillips is in love with Katherine. But Katherine, becoming angry because of Joe's careless and irresponsible habits, quarrels with him, and during the reconciliation tells Joe everything, but begs him not to fight Phillips. Joe promises, then later becomes so angry he knocks out the manager. Meanwhile, at home Katherine and Little Pat are listening to Joe sing over the radio. The doorbell rings.

"You're lying," snapped the detective. He whirled on the policeman. "Well, Bill," he began abruptly. "I guess we'll have to go through the place." He motioned for the officer to begin the search.

"Know a man named Phillips—Arthur Phillips of the QRS broadcasting station?"

Katherine hesitated. "Only slightly," she returned. "He's a good friend of my husband's."

"I've met him once or twice through their association in business. Oh, I hardly know him at all."

"Not a good friend of yours, then?" The words came so quickly that there was no time for the girl to think. And the man's tone was contemptuous. Katherine felt as though she wanted to strike him, find something at him, do anything to mark that look of insolent assurance. But she kept herself in hand and merely shook her head.

"When'd you last see him?"

"Quite a while ago. I can't remember exactly."

"Well, days, weeks or months?"

"A long time—weeks, I guess."

Couldn't she get rid of these men, somehow, Katherine thought frantically. She must try to do something. They mustn't find Joe. That was all there was to that. They mustn't find him! He'd probably fought Phillips, and the manager had complained to the police. It would be like him to do that. And now they were out to arrest Joe; lock him up somewhere where he couldn't see him for years, maybe. Joe, in a prison suit, with the iron bars sending shadows of stripes across his face. Joe! She put her hand up to her mouth to keep from screaming aloud.

And then the detective did something peculiar. She watched his movements, not comprehending his actions, standing outside the hall door, leaving it open, and now he was back again with his hand behind him. Suddenly a shape, a small shape, loomed before her.

"Recognize this?"

The shape took the form of Arthur Phillips' hat, and a hat seemed a safe enough matter for discussion.

"Why, yes," she admitted, "that's Arthur Phillips' hat."

The detective gave a nasty chuckle. "You're a rotten liar, Mrs. Lane, but you've helped me a whole lot. You know a man slightly, yet you recognize his hat at once. We'll let that pass. Then you say you haven't seen him in weeks, and now this hat is so new it must have been bought about yesterday. Now come through and talk. Where is Mister Joe Lane?"

The room was slowly turning about. Great waves of nausea swept Katherine's body. Only that hateful man was standing holding a hat in his hand. Then things began to clear all at once.

"Oh, what do you want!" The girl's voice rose in a high-pitched, hysterical scream. "What do you want?"

Again that low-voiced chuckle. And then—

"I'm from the Homeless Squad. I want your husband for murder!"

12 KILLED IN RIOT AT PRISON

of one of the guards, the bright brass buttons shining in weird contrast to such a sombre scene. A hasty glance at the bodies, a brief survey of the destruction and then the bodies were carried out to ambulances standing in readiness at the west gate where, throughout the turmoil of the long night, heart-torn, grief-stricken relatives had hoped against hope that their loved ones would not be the next to be brought out thus.

Ghastly Scenes

From yesterday nightfall until early morning had recurred the deadly routine of a few sharp shots inside the cell house, a period of silence, then the sudden emergency of a group of just one huddled figure bearing a burden. The muffled summons for a dead wagon. The crunch of feet on gravel driveway. The soft purr of a motor. The slow departure of a silent spectre into the darkness. And the sobbing loved ones who had met the worst—excruciating pain for sensitive souls.

The burdens were the bodies of guards who had been sacrificed by the handful of desperate convicts in a campaign of slaughter designed to force their freedom, and thrown out from the cell house almost hourly. Daniels had threatened such fierceness unless the prison gates opened to him. His callous count did not hesitate when his demands were refused.

Note Injured

After the dead had been removed, thoughts turned to the living, locked in cells in the west part of the building where about 175 convicts who had taken refuge after fleeing from cell houses 1 and 2 to escape flames started by the mutinous band yesterday afternoon. The 175 had spent a harrowing night. They were menaced by the entrenched desperadoes as well as by the besieging forces. Not one was injured, although the attackers had used high explosive shells and dynamite and had peppered the building mercilessly with rifle and shotgun slugs.

Guard Marvin Duncan, previously reported dead by kidnaped guards who secured their freedom from the mutineers, was found locked in a cell in the lower tier. He had saved his life by feigning death.

Five other guards; Jim Pate, Negro; C. A. Earl, Lawrence Roche, E. J. Hollister and D. F. Osborne also attributed their survival of the mutiny to "playing dead." Hollister and Osborne both had been shot in the face by Daniels, but the wounds were only superficial.

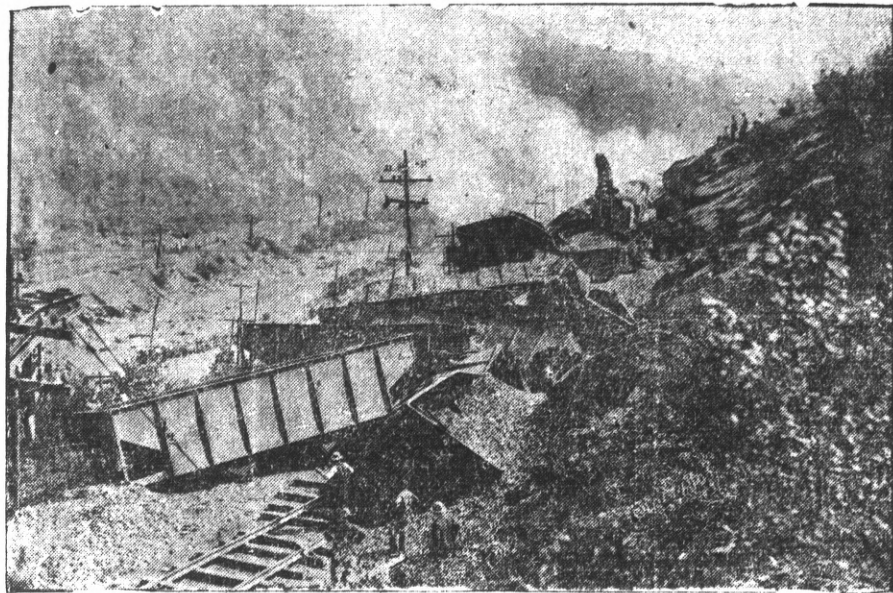

Also wounded was Warden F. Eugene Crawford, who was hit in the chest by a ricocheting rifle slug and in the forehead by a pellet from a shotgun. The bullets did not stop him. He surveyed the damage.

Fremont county coroner Wyatt impaneled a jury to conduct the inquest. They viewed the bodies and will meet Monday to give their verdict.

A state investigation was launched at Denver by Gov. W. H. Adams.

Besides the two guards found murdered when the cell house was entered today, the riot yesterday claimed the lives of Guards

First M. E. To Observe 29th Anniversary

The twenty-ninth anniversary of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will be observed tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

The church was originated in this city on Oct. 8, 1900, the first church of any faith to be established in Richmond.

A large birthday cake bearing 29 candles will be placed upon the altar. After the service, all are invited to assemble in the social hall of the church, where the cake will be cut and served.

This twenty-ninth anniversary and Roll Call service, will be attended by many pioneers of Richmond in addition to the members and friends of the church.

A very interesting program has been arranged for this service. Coral response by the choir, "Lord, God is here." Duet by Mrs. E. L. Scofield and Mrs. James Stuart, "O Love Divine." Solo by Mrs. Blise Brothers' Home Sweet Home, Anthem by the choir, "Sing to the Lord of Harvest." The Rev. F. H. Prince will bring a brief message, "The Immortal Roll."

Workman Killed By Belt Line Train

When he was struck by a Harbor Belt Line railroad engine at a crossing here today, C. G. Gardner, 35, was killed instantly.

Gardner was on his way to work when he stepped in front of the train.

E. G. Erwin, Ray B. Brown, Walter C. Rinker, R. A. Wiggins and John G. Beles. The latter was state executioner for 25 years and he had sprung the trap beneath more than 30 men.

The slaying of Erwin was committed by Pardue; all the rest by the deadly Daniels, who held life cheaply and was willing to die to force the prison gates to be opened to him.

Henry Soito Opens Office In Richmond

Opening of an office in Richmond to take care of his rapidly growing business here, was announced yesterday by Henry C. Soito, general insurance broker.

The new office is located on the corner of Twenty-fifth street and Macdonald avenue, and all kinds of general real estate brokerage, rentals, all lines of insurance, mortgage loans, automobile dealers finance and appraisals will be handled.

Otto Palambo, who until recently was connected with the Leo Persico realty office as sales manager, will now be connected with the Soito office.

Soito, in order to care for his large San Pablo clientele, will maintain his office at the San Pablo Bee building.

60 Towns Will Seek Rate Cut From P. G. E. Co.

A fight to secure lower electric light rates from the Pacific Gas and Electric company, was launched yesterday by Crockett and Valona, along with a score of other unincorporated cities.

The towns, claiming that they pay a rate of from 25 to 35 per cent higher than that which incorporated cities pay for the same service, plan to carry their demand for substantial reductions to the state railroad commission.

According to a plan issued by H. L. Whitehead, chairman of a special committee appointed by the Crockett and Valona business men's association, a committee of civic and business leaders will be organized to prosecute the action.

Whitehead stated that his committee is now engaged in organizing business interests in the 60 odd towns for the fight. Strong opposition to the petition is to be expected from the P. G. & E., he said.

The schedule of light charges furnished him by the P. G. & E. is quoted by Whitehead as a basis for the petition.

Thomas Wilkins Struck By Auto

Thomas Wilkins, of 19 Cottage avenue, Point Richmond was yesterday knocked to the pavement by an automobile driven by Vivian E. Cook.

He was removed to the Cottage hospital, where he was treated for abrasion of both knees and cuts on his hands. The accident occurred when Cook swung into Washington avenue from Standard avenue.

RUSS PLANE ON ISLAND

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 4.—UP—The Russian monoplane, "Land of the Soviets" unreported since it left Sitka, Alaska, early Thursday, on a flight to Seattle, was forced down near Craig, Alaska, according to word received by the United States coast guard here Friday.

The plane was undamaged and none of its four occupants was injured, the brief message said.

The message ended a search by plane and coast guard cutters that had lasted 48 hours.

The coast guard cutter Cygan has been ordered to proceed to Water Fall, Alaska, where the plane was forced down by fog. Two members of the plane's crew made their way to Craig and reported the landing. Water Fall is on the southwest side of Prince of Wales Island.

The plane left Sitka at 6:42 a. m. Thursday and was expected to land here later in the day.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 4.—UP—A loan to meet pressing obligations and salaries of ballplayers was granted to William Klepper, owner of the Seattle team, by Pacific Coast baseball league directors at a meeting here today.

The amount was not divulged but it was thought the $17,500 requested was reduced to $5,000.

The playoff between the winner of the first half of the split season and the winner of the second half will begin on Thursday, October 10. Missions, first half champions, and Hollywood are in a close race. If Hollywood wins the present half the series will be held, the first three games in Los Angeles, the next three in San Francisco and the seventh, if necessary, at a place to be decided by the flip of a coin.

MORTEMOTH KILLS MOTHS

The gas from Mortemoth crystals not only protects your furniture for a long time, but contact with it kills all moths, their eggs and their dangerous larvae in furniture which is already infested.

The proper method of using Mortemoth crystals is to tie them in small sacks, and to place these sacks down in the channel of the piece, as deeply as possible, behind the cushions, so that, upon expansion, the gas will spread and fill the spring units in the back and in the bottom of the piece.

When the sacks are empty, fill them again.
